The AALS Section of Financial Institutions & Consumer Financial Services will host the first AALS FinReg Conference on November 4, 2022, in-person, at the Antonin Scalia Law School, in Arlington, Virginia.

This annual workshop brings together scholars focused on financial regulation to present their scholarly works. We welcome scholars working in a variety of methodologies, as well as both completed papers and works-in-progress.

We solicit submissions from scholars on topics related to financial regulation, in particular, but not exclusively, we welcome papers concerning the following topics (along with related topics):

- Climate finance
- Digital assets
- Bank regulation
- Market infrastructure
- Regulatory design and policies
- International financial regulation

If you are interested in participating, please send the paper you would like to present or an abstract of the paper to Paolo Saguato and David Zaring by October 16. Please include your name, current position, and contact information in the e-mail accompanying the submission. If you have any questions concerning the conference, feel free to email Paolo Saguato (psaguato@gmu.edu).

Selected presenters will be notified by October 19. Participants will pay for their own travel, lodging, and other expenses.

Paolo Saguato (Section Chair)
David Zaring (Section Chair Elect)
