

Wilkinson Family Speaker Series

on Securities Fraud & Investor Protection

Raising awareness of the nature, importance, and relevance of securities fraud and related financial fraud, including by trusted family, friends, and advisors.

Friday, March 24, 2023

9:15 a.m. - 1:15 p.m.

Breakfast will begin at 8:30 a.m.

OU College of Law

Program

Bell Courtroom

Welcome from Dean Katheleen Guzman

Presentation by David Whipple

BREAK

Presentation by Peter Mougey

Presentation by Richard Frankowski

BREAK

Presentation by Lou Straney

Move to Kerr Lounge for Lunch Presentations

Kerr Lounge

Presentation by Wilkinson Scholars

Presentation by Dr. Craig McCann

Open Q&A

Reception

Speakers

Richard Frankowski

Founder of The Frankowski Firm. He has represented hundreds of investors around the country in FINRA arbitrations and civil litigations. Currently he serves on the Board of Directors for the Public Investors Arbitration Bar Association Foundation.

Peter Mougey

Shareholder and chair of the Levin Papantonio Rafferty's Securities and Business Litigation Department. He has championed individuals' rights against the world's largest companies in financial, securities, and whistleblower litigation.

Craig McCann, Ph.D.

Founder and president of SLCG Economic Consulting, LLC. He has published more than 30 finance papers in peer-reviewed journals and is frequently quoted in national media outlets. He has testified over 600 times in securities arbitrations and in investment-related litigation in state and federal courts around the country.

Louis Straney

A leading legal expert in securities litigation that spans over four decades of experience. Since launching his securities litigation and expert witness practice in 2007, he has consulted in more than 700 disputes and appeared in more than 100 final hearings. His testimony most often focuses on areas such as industry practices and mandates, complex securities, supervision, affinity fraud, elder abuse, and suitability.

David Whipple

Prior to joining the Northern District of Oklahoma as an Assistant U.S. Attorney, he worked as enforcement and trial counsel for the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Before that, he worked for the law firm Fried Frank in Washington D.C. in its government investigations and defense practice. In his current position as an AUSA, he primarily prosecutes white-collar cases including all areas of financial crimes and fraud.

About

The Wilkinson Family Speaker Series aims to educate and attract future attorneys to the fields of securities fraud and investor protection, inform the public of the importance and relevance of securities fraud, including affinity fraud by trusted family, friends, or advisors, and provide continuing legal education to practicing attorneys in these key areas.

A special thanks to Bruce Wilkinson, College of Law Class of 1969. Because of his generous support and investment in educating the general public, future attorneys, and current attorneys, this important speaker series is possible.